IDEAL FOR AGES
5-6

This classic children's story reinforces the power of positive thinking and hard work through the character of a little blue steam engine. Young children will love the brightly coloured illustrations and easily connect to the characters and their message of "never giving up" to accomplish a goal. This is an ideal book to read at the beginning of the school year to direct your students to an "I think I can!" attitude when talking about reading, maths, writing or other skills they will learn throughout the year!

Use a toy train, photographs or illustrations in the book to help students understand specialized vocabulary.

Discussion Starters

1. What was the happy little train loaded with?

Toy animals, dolls, toy clown, engines, airplanes, tops, picture puzzles, books, oranges, apples, milk, spinach, peppermint drops, lollypops. NOTE: In 1930, when this classic book was published, jack-knives were listed too. The image can easily be covered with a white sticker and the word should not be read to students if it is still included in your published book.

2. Where was the train going?

Over to the other side of the mountains to deliver toys and food to good little boys and girls.

3. What was the problem?

The train came to a jerk and the wheels wouldn't turn any more. The train couldn't get over the mountain. Show a picture of a valley and mountain to illustrate the problem. Explain that the wheels were not broken; it just became hard and it took more effort to get up the steep mountain.

4. How did they try to solve the problem?

First, they asked a shiny new engine for help. Did it help? Why not? Thought they were too important to carry toys. How did the little train and toys feel? Sad.

Second, they asked big strong engine for help. Did it help? Why not? Thought they were too important to carry toys. How did the little train and toys feel? Very sad.

Third, they asked the dingy, rusty old engine for help. Did it help? Why not? Too tired. Must rest. How did the little train and toys feel? Very, very sad. Ready to cry. Note that the sadness got worse with each no. Have you ever felt that way?

Fourth, they asked the little blue engine for help. Did it help? Not at first, but the blue engine saw tears and thought of kids not getting toys or food so it decided to try and help.

5. What helped the little blue engine get over the mountain?

Positive thinking, 'I think I can' (never gave up), helped the engine to keep trying. The clown, animals and dolls smiled and cheered, which encouraged the engine (encourage others)!

Writing Prompt

Draw a picture of the little blue engine going up the mountain. Include details from the story! Trace over letters "I think I can" and "Never give up."

Activities

Class Project or Display Board

Together, brainstorm a list of what the students will learn (or have learned already) this school year! Add to the list, as you enthusiastically explain the year. Like the little blue engine, they need to think they can. Post the list in the classroom.

Create a 'Think I Can' display board in your room. Include a mountain and valley, car trains, with room to add pictures of students, and engines that pull the cars up the mountain with the phrase "I think I can." Move the train further up each week. Eventually, have it go over the top and add the phrase "I thought I could" as students grow and learn in kindergarten!

Oral Language Development

This story is a great example to use when teaching adjectives. The describing words used for the engines and toys provide great examples of one and two word adjectives. Help develop oral language by working with students to come up with other words that describe the nouns in the story. Insert the new adjectives into the short story (provided in the printable) to create an innovation of The Little Engine That Could. Consider introducing synonyms - other words that can be used to describe the same things.

Brain Break: Student Train

Have student line up to make the train. Select a student to be the engine. Using the list of things they will learn this year, have the engine choose one thing they really want to be able to do this year.

Start the train:

1. Slowly move legs in small steps... Kid engine says, "I want to _____ (something from the list). I think I can, I think I can, I think I can!"
 2. Have the rest of the room whisper cheer... "Never give up, Never give up, Never give up!"
 3. Move a little faster, with the kid engine saying, "I THINK I CAN, I THINK I CAN, I THINK I CAN!" with more excitement.
 4. Response from class... "NEVER GIVE UP, NEVER GIVE UP, NEVER GIVE UP!"
- Repeat with different 'kid engines' each day!
